ALL VOTERS TO BE SUMMONED

Judge Witt Suggests They Come Without Formal Request.

MR. WM. L. ROYALL HAS TAKEN HOLD

Introduced to Court Yesterday and Cordially Welcomed-The Grand Jury to Be in Session Many Days Yet-Rumors of a Sensation Are Laughed At.

The grand jury of the Hustings Court has been engaged for three days in poll ing the voters of the several precincts of the recent primary, and during tha time has heard hardly more than 1,400 of the 5,300 voters of the city. This is an average of about 470 per day. At this rate It will require at least seven more days to make an even partial poll of all th precincts of the cliv. Instead of making more rapid progress with double sittings daily, as was anticipated, the grand jury yesterday did not hear as many witnesses yesterday did not hear as many witnesses as on Monday in one session. It is getting more and more difficult, apparently, instead of easier to secure the prompt attendance of voters. As a consequence little was done yesterday afternoon, further than the examination of Messrs. Held, Welch and Craig, of the city treasurer's office, their testimony relating to prepayment of poll taxes. On adjournment yesterday Foreman Taylor stated that one of the jurors desired to know if the attendance of City Treasurer Phillips could not be required by the court. It was stated that. Mr. Phillips's health was so poor and his physical condition so feeble that it would be difficult for him to appear.

Yesterday's Features.

Yesterday's Features.

The feature of the inquisition yester-day were the introduction of Mr. Wil-liam L. Royali as special assistant to Commonwealth's Attorney Richardson; the demand from the grand jury room that the scaled trunk containing the ballots be brought up from the treasurer's of-fice, and the reiteration of rumors that fice, and the reiteration of rumors that some startling disclosures were expected from Second Lee precinct. Mr. Royall was introduced to the court by the Commonwealth's attorney, and was welcomed as an assistant to the Commonwealth by the court. He will have access to the jury room and will exercise all the powers of the Commonwealth's attorney himself in connection with the inquiry, as well as the test of any persons who have been the trial of any persons who have been may be indicted. Mr. Royall was not the jury room yesterday, nor was Mrchardson, save for a brief interval. If elr services are desired by the jury by will be called in. At present, howthey will be called in. At present, however, the jury appears to be engaged in the poil of voters as long as any present themselves, and when the line has been completed any spare time is devoted to examining employes of the commissioner of the revenue and the treasurer. This last examination can relate only to the matter of probable violations of the law with reference to prepayment of poil taxes for voters by candidates or their friends. What has been developed along this line is a matter of conjecture purely, since both grand jurors and witnesses decline to talk about the matter.

jurors and witnesses decline to talk about the matter.

Judge Witt yesterdny requested the press to announce to all the clitzens who voted in the recent primary that if they will come forward without awaiting formal summons they will be heard, whether their precinct be reached or not. Those who contemplate taking trips or outlings may thus save themselves inconvenience by testifying now, whereas if they await the summons they may be prevented from making contemplated excursions or business trips at the time fixed. Any voter from any precinct who has not yet been summoned may testify to-day if he will summoned, and many of, whom testified yesterday, were the following: Fourth Monroe, 51 testified of the 29 summoned; third Jefferson, 190 testified of the 50 summoned; third Jefferson, 190 testified of the 50 summone; fourth Jefferson, 198 testified of the 126 summoned. When it is stated that they testified it is meant that they were ushered into the Jury room and presumably told the Jury for whom they had voted for sergeant and attorney. It was rumored on the outside that two or three Jefferson Ward voters declined to say how they had voted, some amusing instances being related of alleged answers to the grand Jury's questions. The polling of voters started prompity at 10:20 and was continued until about 1:30, the entire line of waiting voters at that hour having been exhausted. On the average about two-thirds of the voters of the several precincis completed, have appeared and testified, the proportion being slightly larger in some precincis.

Those summoned for to-day include the voters of Third Chay, remainder of Yourth Jefferson and First and Second Marshall precincts. In addition to these funy cittzen from any precinct who has not yet testified is requested by Judge Witt to come up and be heard.

One of the witnesses who deposed yesterday was Joseph Edwards, a resident and voter of Marshall Ward, who was before the jury for some time. It is not known to what phase of the inquiry his testimony had reference. It may be that he appeared in order that he might not have to be summoned later. As his precinct has not been reached in the poli, it is considered unlikely that his evigence related to that precinct or ward.

Scarcely Department of Government Not Under Suspicion

HYDE COMING BACK TO FACE THE JURY

Sensational Disclosures Promise to Enliven Winter Season in National Capital - Weather Bureau and "Summer Annex" in Mountains of Virginia.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON. D. C., Aug. 2.—The prospects are good for a sensational winter in Washington. Many things point to a wholesale investigation of all departments of the government and the results are hound to prove startling to every section of the country, without regard to political bias. There is scarcely a department of the government which has not come under suspicion within the past few months, and charges growing out of discoveries of the few weeks last past, have been as serious and promise to develop as sensationally as any made in a long time.

It is interesting, if not entirely profitable, to speculate as to how greatly the country—the average citizen—has been affected by the recent uncarthing of so much corruption in the government. The leaders of the Republican party would very much like to know, and it may be readily, imagined that the Democratic helmsmen would like to know also. It is by no means improbable that general, national dissatisfaction, growing out of (From Our Regular Correspondent.)

The clamor of the Democrats for a general investigation of all the departments last winter was unsuccessful. There was not a Republican who backed up the minority in the fight for the application of the probe. Indeed, the coverup and the hush-up policy of the Republican majority obtained without dissent in the ranks of that party. Representative Hay, of Virginia, did succeed in getting through the house a resolution which brought about a partial investigation of the affairs of the postoffice department, but this was all. No resolution looking to anything like a thorough or general investigation ever had the slightest chance in Congress.

There will be no relaxation of energy in fighting the fever. With only a few isolated cases above Canal Street, it is believed that once the infection begins to decline, there will be little difficulty in stamping out the disease. While the fever spells a serious state of affairs, it is not believed that there is justification for the terror which seems to have spread over the country outside of New Orleans.

Try to Evade Officers.

The city hoard of health's report of yesterday's forty-two new cases and six deaths shows that italian patients numbered thirty-live, while the six dead were all Italians. In hospital Street, in the heart of the originally affected area, there were twelve cases, all in one block.

In one Hospital Street house five cases were found and in another four. Most of the other new cases were found near the French market. In spite of all that has been done to reassure them many Italians continually try to conceal their cases. They are still stricken with panie and they turn in fear from doctors and health officers.

It was due largely to the energy with which the marine hospital forces set about the work of discovering hidden cases that Tuesday's record was made so large.

"I observed Furopean aristocracy pretty closely while I was over there, and I have arrived at the conclusion that foreign aristocracy is of a much better grade than the American article. There aristocracy means lineage and brains; well, here it ranges chiefly from bad whiskey to Standard Oil."

Mr. Watterson said that he had read the accounts of the scandal in the Department of Agriculture, and added:
"I have often wondered how so many selentific men connected with the government at comparatively small salaries could live so well, it only goes to show that the college man is not a success in politics."
